Billie Mclean, Nursing Coordinator | Core Dental

Canonical: https://www.coredental.com.au/our-team/billy-mclean/

Details:

Billie Mclean holds the position of Nursing Coordinator at Core Dental. The role is a dental nursing and coordination one rather than a treating-practitioner role, and we have not published a longer biography for it. This page sets out what the role covers, what it does not cover, how dental nursing is regulated in Australia, and who to speak to about your own treatment.

Role	Nursing Coordinator, Core Dental
Type of role	Dental nursing and coordination. Not a treating-practitioner role.
AHPRA registration	None applies. Dental nursing and dental assisting are not registered divisions under the National Law.
Clinical questions	Ask your treating practitioner. See our dentists and registered specialists .

Who is Billie Mclean at Core Dental?

Billie is one of our Nursing Coordinators. Beyond the role title, the practice has not published further detail about Billie, so this page does not attempt to supply any. If you need to know who will be involved in your care, ask when you book and we will tell you.

What does a nursing coordinator do in a dental practice?

Dental nursing and coordination roles support the clinical team rather than diagnose or treat. In general terms the work spans assisting during procedures, preparing and turning over surgeries, sterilisation and infection-control processes, managing instruments and stock, and coordinating rosters and patient flow so appointments run to time. We have not published a breakdown of Billie's individual duties, and the general description here should not be read as one.

Is a dental nurse registered with AHPRA?

No, and this is a point worth understanding rather than a gap in anyone's credentials. Dental nursing and dental assisting are not registered divisions under the Health Practitioner Regulation National Law , so there is no AHPRA registration to hold and none to check. The Dental Board of Australia does not maintain a register of dental nurses or dental assistants.

That is a statement about how the profession is regulated, not about training. Dental nurses commonly hold vocational qualifications and practices set their own requirements, but those sit outside the national registration scheme.

Which dental roles are registered in Australia?

The Dental Board of Australia's scope of practice guidelines set out the practitioner divisions it registers: dentists (including dental specialists), dental hygienists, dental prosthetists, dental therapists and oral health therapists. Dentists with specialist registration hold one of thirteen recognised specialties. Anyone in those divisions appears on the AHPRA public register, and the registration is free to check.

How do I check a clinician's registration?

Search the AHPRA public register at ahpra.gov.au by name. It costs nothing, takes about a minute, and shows the division held, any specialty, and any conditions on practice. If a page anywhere describes someone as a specialist, that register is where the claim can be verified.

Who should I ask about my diagnosis, treatment or fees?

Your treating practitioner. Diagnosis, treatment recommendations, an explanation of the risks and alternatives, and what a plan will cost are all theirs to give, and they depend on an examination of your own mouth. A coordination role cannot answer them and should not be asked to. Our affordability and understanding your treatment pages cover how we set out written plans and costs.

Does Billie provide clinical advice?

No. The role is non-clinical in that sense. Nothing on this page is advice about your teeth, and a job title carries no clinical qualification.

Which Core Dental clinic is Billie based at?

We have not published that, and we would rather say so than guess. Rosters change, and team members can work across more than one of our nine Melbourne clinics. Call 13 13 16 and we will tell you who is where. You can also see all nine on the site directory .

Can I ask for a particular team member?

You can ask, and it is a reasonable request. Whether it can be accommodated depends on rosters, which clinic you attend and what the appointment is for. Mention it when you book rather than on the day, which gives us the best chance of arranging it.

Why does this page not list qualifications or a biography?

Because the practice has not published them for this role, and we do not fill that space with invented detail. Where we hold and publish qualifications, they appear on the profile, and for registered practitioners they can be confirmed independently on the AHPRA register. An absence here means we have nothing published to show you, not that there is nothing.

How do I book an appointment at Core Dental?

Book online through coredental.com.au, or call 13 13 16 and we will help you find a clinic and a time. We are open Monday to Friday 8.00am to 6.00pm and Saturday mornings, and we keep emergency appointments available each day. See availability and contact us .

What should I bring to a first appointment?

Bring any relevant medical information and a current list of your medicines, your health fund card if you have one, and details of any previous treatment or imaging. Describing the concern, how long it has been going on and what you want to achieve helps the practitioner assess and explain your options. What to expect at your first appointment sets out the rest.

Does this page replace advice from a registered practitioner?

No. It records a role as we publish it, together with general information about how dental roles are regulated in Australia. Recommendations depend on an individual examination, diagnosis and suitability assessment by a practitioner who has seen you.

Related Core Dental information

Our dentists and registered specialists

Browse every Core Dental page

Opening hours and emergency appointments

Affordability and payment plans

Understanding your treatment

What to expect at your first appointment

Contact Core Dental

For urgent symptoms such as uncontrollable bleeding, difficulty breathing or swallowing, or serious facial injury, call 000 immediately and do not wait for a dental appointment.

This page provides general information and does not replace advice from a registered dental practitioner who has examined you. Opening hours, availability and fees can change, so please confirm them when you book. Registration of any practitioner can be checked on the AHPRA public register at ahpra.gov.au.

How many clinics does Core Dental have, and where are they?

Nine, all in Melbourne: Southbank, South Melbourne, Caroline Springs, Carrum Downs, Epping, Wyndham, Berwick, Bayside and Glenferrie. Team members can work across more than one of them, so call 13 13 16 if you need to know who is at which clinic on a given day.

What are Core Dental's opening hours?

Monday to Friday 8.00am to 6.00pm and Saturday mornings, across all nine clinics. We also keep emergency appointments available each day. Hours can change, so please confirm them when you book.

Does Core Dental offer payment plans?

Yes. Humm, Payright and Afterpay are available to approved patients for general, cosmetic and specialist treatment including orthodontics, and Supercare is an application to release superannuation early on compassionate grounds. Every application is assessed by the finance provider and not by us, and fees and eligibility vary by plan. Our dental payment plans page sets out the current terms.

Is bulk billing available for children?

Eligible children can be bulk billed under the Child Dental Benefits Schedule. Eligibility is set by Services Australia rather than by us, so ask when you book and we will check what applies to your child.

What should I do in a dental emergency?

For uncontrollable bleeding, difficulty breathing or swallowing, or serious facial injury, call 000 immediately and do not wait for a dental appointment. For severe tooth pain or swelling without those signs, contact us promptly on 13 13 16 and ask for an emergency appointment.