What does a dental technician do?

A dental technician produces custom items that are designed for your mouth from a dentist's prescription. Depending on your treatment, this can include:

dental crowns and dental bridges composite and porcelain veneers

dentures and implant retained dentures

other restorations and appliances that your clinician requests

Which items apply to you depends on your examination and your clinician's recommendation.

Where can you have treatment that involves our technicians?

Our technicians work with the clinical teams across our nine practices: Southbank , South Melbourne , Caroline Springs , Carrum Downs , Epping , Wyndham , Berwick , Bayside and Glenferrie . Your own dentist or prosthetist remains your point of contact.

How can you check the registration of your dentist or specialist?

Our dentists, specialists, hygienists and therapists are registered health practitioners, and you can check any practitioner on the public register at ahpra.gov.au . Our front-of-house and laboratory team members support your care but are not the practitioners who diagnose or treat you. Your clinician will explain your options, risks and costs before you decide to proceed.

What should you ask before treatment that involves a custom restoration?

What material is recommended for me, and why?

How many appointments will the treatment take?

What will it cost, and will I receive a written quote before treatment starts?

How should I care for the restoration, and how long may it last?

What are the risks and limitations for my situation?

Who are Natalie's colleagues?

You can meet more of our team, including our Dental Prosthetists Ahmed Saoud and Alessio Pecorella , who make and fit dentures and related appliances.
